The manners through which we bring our contribution in the communities where we perform our activity include the payment of taxes, the employment of local labour force, the use and development of local services and suppliers, the investments in infrastructure and local programs, including social investments.

We believe that through strategic investments in local communities, we can also positively influence our long-term economic performance. Dynamic communities create demand for our services and play an important role in the development of an educated labour force and a robust and durable supply chain.
